[redacted] was interviewed at the NEWS 12 Building, 450
Raritan Center Drive, Edison, New Jersey, by Special Agent (SA) [redacted] was advised that she was being interviewed concerning letters sent to [redacted] [redacted] and Senator ARLEN SPECTER. In these letters to Senator SPECTER and [redacted] were threatening and derogatory information which suggested that the writer could, if her demands were not met, destroy the reputation of both Senator SPECTER and [redacted]. Additionally it was explained to [redacted] that [redacted] had received two such letter and Senator SPECTER had received one letter and all the letters were signed by an individual by the name of [redacted] and that the letters were written on the "STAR LEDGER" NEWS 12 NEW JERSEY letterhead and all three letters were typewritten.

b6
b7C

[redacted] stated that she was aware of other letters that were written to other individuals containing basically the same information. However, she stated that she was not aware of the additional three letters that were presented to her. She stated that the first letter was sent to Governor WHITMAN in Trenton and she was contacted by a New Jersey State Investigator by the name of [redacted]. Since that time she has worked closely with Investigator [redacted] and had provided her all information that was requested and also the name of a suspect. [redacted] stated that in January, 1995, she was employed by [redacted] located at [redacted]. While employed at this station, she worked with an individual by the name of [redacted] a white male who was employed as [redacted] [redacted]. At the same time while he was employed at [redacted] he was actively engaged in a "dating service" which he ran out of his house. [redacted] stated that this service that [redacted] provided was a little on the racy side. She described [redacted] as a weird individual, who kept basically to himself. The other office employees did not talk to him. She stated that she sort of befriended him and from time-to-time would speak to him and make small talk.

Shortly thereafter, she received a "E-mail" from [REDACTED] which stated that he was very interested in her development crisis, but that he had heard that she was married or dating someone. He stated that he was frustrated by this. [REDACTED] stated that she responded with an "E-mail" back to him advising him that he was not to write letters like that to her anymore because it made her uncomfortable. She stated that she told him that she would go out for a beer sometime with him and that was it. He again responded again by "E-mail", stating that he did not drink beer and for her not to talk to him about alcohol. [REDACTED] stated that [REDACTED] is not a very good communicator. Several months later he went to work for [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Before he left, he sent an "E-mail" to one of her close friends and co-workers, [REDACTED] and stated that he was working psychological warfare, that she, [REDACTED] owed him wings. [REDACTED] stated that she does not have the faintest idea what he was talking about. She stated that several times when she was sitting in the editing bay at her office, she would look up and find [REDACTED] standing behind her. He would say he had nothing to do and just wanted to watch her. Other times he would request to walk with her to her car. Before he left the station, he sent an "E-mail" to all the other employees and confessed his love for her. After leaving the station, he apparently was attempting to call her because she finally received a letter in which [REDACTED] stated, "Too bad you don't answer your phone, I have all these sweet gigs lined up for you. I also have a job lined up for you at the Olympics."

[REDACTED] stated that she wrote back in a selfish way and told him that she was sorry that she did not write back, that she had her own problems. In one of the letters that she received from him he advised her that there was an opening for a job at NEWS 12 in Edison and suggested she apply for the job. He told her to send her resume to an individual there by the name of [REDACTED]. She in fact sent in a resume to NEWS 12 and was hired right away. After she got the job, she made a phone call to [REDACTED] and thanked him and suggested that they get together for coffee. She stated that she then changed her mind because she was leaving in two weeks and could not fit it into her schedule. She believes this was in February, 1996. She stated that he constantly called her, asking her, "When are we going to get together." She told him that she was moving and was starting a new job and at the time was just too busy.

[REDACTED] stated that sometime around St. Patrick's Day she received a letter which she characterized as a "why letter". The letter first came to her old address, which was [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] She stated that the reason she characterized the letter as a "why letter" is because every line began with "why", "Why did you break my heart." "Why didn't I listen to what the people said about you." The letter had about 25 "why" questions. [REDACTED] stated that she felt bad for the guy, she felt sympathetic towards him. She thought that he was a little freak. She stated that shortly thereafter a barrage of letters started going out, the was first received by Governor WHITMAN in New Jersey. She stated because of the state investigation, she was aware that all of the letters that went out were signed with her name. [REDACTED] stated that she now also recalled that before she left Pennsylvania to begin her new job at NEWS 12, she received a letter from [REDACTED] which stated for her to keep Saturday open for him, if not Saturday, the last Monday in April. She stated that she still has this letter. She advised that she has had no contact with [REDACTED]. Her first inkling that something was amiss was when she received a telephone call from [REDACTED] who works for the parent company, "STAR LEDGER" that someone had called from the state advising that Governor WHITMAN had received a letter with NEWS 12's logo and signed by [REDACTED]. She stated that her initial reaction was one of shock, because she knew that she did not write any letters. She stated that [REDACTED] is the only person she could think of that would do such a thing. She stated that [REDACTED] seemed to have a real handle on what she had been doing and felt that he could have her investigated for journalistic ethics by digging up dirt on her. She stated that she has no doubt that it is him and that he was being vindictive because she had spurned him. He felt that it was because of him that she got her present job and her refusal to go out with him. She feels that [REDACTED] is of the opinion that she owes him something.

b6

[REDACTED] stated that after she got the first "why letter" she saw a friend of a friend of [REDACTED] and she told him to tell [REDACTED] to never contact her again because she considers the letters she received from him to be harassment.
